NO MORE PLATINUM FOR WEDDING RINGS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—The engaged girl flashed her ring. "But just how do they use platinum in the war?" she asked.

A good many girls are asking that question these days. They hear of the war demands on the platinum supply. They know that the war has sent the price sky-high. Platinum rings are getting as scarce as hen's teeth. Just why?

The answer is that our troops do not shoot it from their guns, but they must have it to fire them. Every branch of the service from the artillery to the signal corps, from the submarines to the hospitals, depends upon this white metal for some part of its efficiency.

It is used in pyrometers, those instruments which heat-treat the steel of every gun. It is necessary to make the sulphuric and nitric acid for powder and explosives. To produce sulphuric acid certain gases are passed over asbestos, or some such material, which is coated with platinum chloride and dried. This mass acts as a catalyst. That is, contact with it changes the gas into the acid required.

The United States had a well-developed acid-manufacturing industry before our entry into the war, but now it has expanded to four times its former size. At the beginning of the present year there was enough platinum on hand to supply all the powder plants contemplated at that time, but the increased war program has increased their need for it. England has had to establish such an industry, having previously depended largely on France and Germany for her demands.

COPPER CANYON PLANT COMPLETELY DESTROYED

A fire, the origin of which is undetermined, destroyed the power plant and equipment including pumping and hoisting plant, compressor and engines of the Copper Canyon Mining company. The fire occurred during the lunch hour at a time when the workmen had gone from the building across to a place where they were accustomed to take their lunch. There was no explosion reported heard, just a burst of flame at one end with simultaneous bursts in a number of places.—Battle Mountain Scout.

ENFORCING WORK OR FIGHT ORDER

The Nye County Council of Defense has adopted an ordinance dealing with the men and women engaged in non-essential labor which will be submitted to the county commissioners at their meeting tomorrow. The chief exaction is that holders of saloon license for barrooms, dance halls or other places where liquor is sold shall register each day the names of all male frequenters of the place during the preceding day. No person engaged in any useful calling shall be so registered and it is expressly stipulated that no person directly or indirectly employed about gambling games or other similar unproductive pursuit shall be deemed engaged in a useful calling. These registry books shall be treated as public records and be at all times open for public inspection. Failure to comply with the provisions of this ordinance shall be ground for immediate revocation by the liquor board of Nye county of the license of the person or persons so failing to comply.

Another ordinance identical with the saloon ordinance except that it applies to keepers of lodging houses, boarding houses, billiard rooms and bowling alleys will be considered at the same time.

SOUTHERN NEVADA HUN KILLER SAYS BOYS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

Jack Williamson on the first lap of his journey to Berlin stopped long enough at Reno to toss off a few remarks about the reception given the boys at that town. His description addressed to W. W. Booth, editor of the Bonanza, reads as follows: Reno, Nev., July 15, 1918.

Dear Bill:—Well, we Hun killers from the old home town, arrived as per schedule after a very pleasant trip, all overflowing with pep, as fine a bunch as one could meet up with.

MARINE CORPS' NEW INSIGNIA

Green instead of Blue Uniform Is Not Recognized by Those Who Are Not Up to Minute.

Surprisingly few civilians even after their country has been in the world war for nearly a year can readily identify the various uniforms of the United States service. Especially is this true in regard to the United States marine corps. The change of the marine corps' uniforms from blue to forest green has added greatly to the bewilderment of the layman who likes to recognize a military man by his uniform or insignia.

The small boy, however, is not so easily fooled; as is shown by an incident which occurred a few days ago. One of the sergeants from a marine recruiting station was walking along the street when he came on a group of small boys and girls playing on the sidewalk. As he approached them one little girl asked:

"What is that man in uniform?"

"I guess he's a French officer," said another girl.

One of the boys eyed him closely for a moment, and then planted himself squarely in front of the sergeant, and holding him by the coat with two chubby little hands, said: "I want see watcha got on yer cap."

The lad knew that the device embracing the globe, eagle and anchor means "marine," whether the wearer be clothed in blue, forestry green or khaki. "Oh, you're a marine, ain'tcha," he exclaimed jubilantly. "An' he's a sergeant and a sharpshooter, too," he told his playmates, with a knowing little nod.

Messenger Wears Tie.

War times and the unprecedented demand for aids for Uncle Sam have brought many quaint characters to Washington, notes a capital correspondent.

U-Boats Have Murdered Thousands.

There is a danger lest familiarity, even with such a monstrous crime as unrestricted U-boat warfare, should breed indifference to its enormity, says an exchange. Therefore, it is well to bear in mind that, except when the attack is made on fighting ships or transports carrying fighting men, the torpedoing of ships and sending men to their death far out at sea, is simply murder, unadorned by any extenuating circumstances whatsoever. Just how great a bill of indictment is being drawn up by the German admiralty against itself is seen in the statement given by the government leader in the house of commons, that up to February, 1918, the German U-boats had killed 14,120 non-combatant British men, women and children. This, he is noted, is exclusive of the murders done upon people of other nationalities.

GREEN MAY RUN FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

George S. Green, one of the most prominent attorneys of Nevada, may announce himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general within the next few days, and in case he makes such a decision Clark J. Guild, district attorney of Lyon county, who has been considering making the race for attorney general, will not be an opposing candidate, but will again seek the office of district attorney of Lyon county.

Mr. Green is widely known throughout Nevada, having practiced law in this section of the state for many years. He was born at Sweetwater, in this state, and for eight years served as district attorney of Esmeralda county, having been elected for four successive terms. He removed from Hawthorne to Reno ten years ago and has since been a member of the law firm of Mack & Green. Mr. Green's father was a pioneer of Nevada and was chairman of the first board of commissioners that was named after the organization of Esmeralda county in 1861.—Gazette.

The Brazilian government will spend several hundred thousand dollars to assist in the importation of thoroughbred cattle.

Nye County Recruits Given Big Reception

When the train bearing sixty southern Nevada volunteers reached Reno last night every former southern Nevada was at the depot to extend the men welcome, says the Gazette. They were not all that were at the depot Mayor Byington, the Reno Musicians' Union band and several hundred Reno people were there to greet the volunteers and when the train pulled in a great shout went up from the crowd when they read this sign on the cars: "Hun Killers' Special from Southern Nevada."

With Sergeant Jeffrey and Corporal Shoemaker in the lead, the sixty men marched to the city park accompanied by the band and hundreds of people where the anniversary of the fall of the battle was appropriately celebrated.

DEATH OF BROTHER OF RICHARD B. DAVIS

Richard B. Davis, chairman of the board of county commissioners, has received a copy of the Daily Tribune, of Johnstown, Pa., of July 6th, giving details of the death of his brother which occurred near that city on the previous evening. The account reads as follows:

Thomas B. Davis, aged 74 years, died at 10:10 o'clock last night at his home, 621 Grove avenue. Moxham, after a long illness of a complication of diseases, aged 74 years. Funeral services will be held at the Davis home at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Harry Bailey, minister of the Moxham Presbyterian church, after which the funeral party will be conveyed to Ebensburg, where the body will be interred in the Lloyd cemetery.

The deceased was a son of Joseph Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis, and Martha Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis, and was born in Carroll township, Cambria county, in 1844. For many years Mr. Davis worked in sawmills and lumber camps in the northern part of the county, having at one time been an employee of the firm of Barker Brothers. The deceased served in Company C, 29th Regiment, P. V. I., under the late Robert Litzinger during the civil war. He was fighting at the side of Second Lieutenant Hugh Jones when the latter fell at Fort Steadman, Va., in March, 1865. Thomas B. Davis was a member of Capt. John M. Jones Post, G. A. R., Ebensburg, in which he was an active worker. For many years after the civil war Mr. Davis was in charge of the Davis farm north of Ebensburg. A few years ago he served as an attendant in the state senate, having been named by the late Senator J. C. Stinemmer.

The deceased and Miss Margaret Gittings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gittings, were married in Ebensburg many years ago. Mrs. Davis' death occurred in Moxham eleven months ago yesterday. Mr. Davis is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Harry Squire, of 623 Grove avenue; a son, Howard Davis, of Washington, D. C., who is employed by the government; seven grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Martha Ann Davis Lloyd, wife of the Rev. John Lloyd, a Presbyterian minister located in South Africa, and five brothers, Aaron Davis, of School place; Richard Davis, of Nevada; John Davis, of Illinois, who arrived in Johnstown yesterday on account of his brother's serious illness; Pryce Davis, of the first ward, and Elmer E. Davis, of the seventeen ward, a former sheriff of Cambria county. A brother and sister of the deceased died in Cambria township many years ago. Seward Davis, another brother, died in the first ward shortly before the Johnstown flood of 1889. Owen Davis, who was injured in the flood, died here in January, 1890. He was also a brother of Thomas B. Davis. The late Mrs. E. L. Edwards, whose death occurred here, was a sister of the deceased.

Mr. Davis was for many years a communicant of the Presbyterian church of Ebensburg. He was also identified with the Highland lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. His son, Howard Davis, is employed in the naval machine shops at the national capital and seven of his nephews are at present in the service. They are Donald and Russell Davis, who are in France; John Davis, who is in Italy, and John and Eben Edwards, who are in training camps in America.

MRS. MCANDLESS HAS A SERIOUS OPERATION

A telegram received by Ben Gill from Charles S. Sprague, who with Mrs. Sprague, left July 4 to visit their daughter, Mrs. S. A. McCandless, at La Jolla, Cal., states that on their arrival there they found Mrs. McCandless in a critical condition and that they immediately left with her for San Diego, where an operation was performed on the mastoid gland, which proved successful.—Goldfield Tribune.

QUEEN LIL'S WILL OPEN LITIGATION

HONOLULU, T. H., June 28 (By mail)—Prince Kuhio, Kahanaloale, delegate to congress from Hawaii, has withdrawn his suit to break the will of the late Queen Liliuokalani and the deed of trust by which several years before her death she turned her property over to a board of trustees. But no sooner were Kuhio's suits withdrawn than several other claimants appeared and filed suits attacking the will.

One of the new claimants is "Princess" Theresa Wilcox Belliveau, who immediately following the death of the queen filed for probate a so-called will which has since been proved to be a forgery. This week the "princess" was tried in circuit court and convicted of conspiracy in connection with the filing of the will. This, however, has not deterred her from making another attempt to obtain possession of the estate left by the late queen, which is valued at something over $200,000.

Another of the new litigants bears the name of Kahakaulakellimeewaiolawale Nawaale. Her front name rendered into English means, "Clouds Hanging in the Twilight Skies."

The third of the trio of suits is brought by John F. Colburn, acting as trustee for the Kawanaka minors, sons of the late Prince David and Princess Abigail Kawanaka.

Their names are David Kalakaua, Kawanakana and Lydia Liliuokalani Kawanakana.

All of the claimants allege that they are next of kin to the late Queen Liliuokalani, and in seeking to have set aside the will that was executed December 2, 1909, all offer the same allegations.

It is contended in the suits that the making of the will was brought about through fraud.
